English Compulsory | Class 10

FBISE SSC-II Model Paper 2025 - Complete Solutions

Curriculum 2022-23 | Sections B and C | Total marks: 60

Simple English answers for exam preparation. All OR options, grammar items, narrative choices, and essay topics are included. These are suggested answers, not an official marking key. In the examination, follow the paper's choice instructions.

SECTION B | Q.2 - Reading Comprehension [18 marks]

(i) Precis and suitable title [6 marks]

Climate Change: Impacts and Solutions

Climate change damages health, farming, livelihoods, and infrastructure, with poor communities suffering most. International agreements seek solutions, but progress is slow, so urgent government action is necessary. Pakistan is especially vulnerable because its economy depends on agriculture. Floods, droughts, disease outbreaks, and job losses threaten its stability and delay recovery. The devastating floods of 2022 highlight these dangers. Pakistan must improve disaster planning, strengthen infrastructure and healthcare, support farming that withstands climate changes, and promote public awareness and sustainable practices to reduce future losses.

Word count: 84 words, excluding the title.

(ii) Key impacts of climate change [3 marks]

Climate change causes floods and droughts that damage homes, roads, and farms. It reduces food production, creates food and water shortages, and spreads diseases. It also causes unemployment, lowers productivity, increases deaths, and damages the environment.

OR - Role of the Kyoto Protocol and the Paris Agreement

The Kyoto Protocol and the Paris Agreement encourage countries to work together to address climate change and reduce harmful emissions. However, their effects take many years to appear. Therefore, governments must also take immediate action to prevent further damage.

(iii) Why underserved communities suffer more [3 marks]

Underserved communities have fewer resources to prepare for and recover from climate disasters. They often lack strong housing, reliable healthcare, and financial support. Therefore, floods, droughts, diseases, and job losses affect them more severely.

OR - Why Pakistan's economy is at high risk

Pakistan's economy depends heavily on agriculture, which is easily affected by floods, droughts, and extreme weather. These disasters destroy crops, reduce exports, and threaten food supplies and employment. Repeated losses create financial instability and make economic recovery difficult.

(iv) Government response to another flood like that of 2022 [3 marks]

The government should issue early warnings, move people to safe places, and provide food, clean water, shelter, and medical care. It should repair damaged roads, homes, and farms. It should also improve flood protection, disaster planning, and farming methods to reduce future losses.

OR - Individual actions to minimize climate change impacts

Individuals can save electricity and water, use public transport, and plant and protect trees. They should reduce waste, reuse materials, and avoid burning rubbish. They can also spread awareness about climate change and follow disaster safety instructions.

(v) Contextual meanings [Any three: 3 marks]

Word	Meaning in the passage
Mortality	Death; the number of deaths in a population
Cope	Deal successfully with a difficult situation
Vulnerable	Easily harmed or seriously affected
Frequent	Happening often
Severity	Seriousness or intensity

Q.3(A) - Paraphrasing [3 marks]

Option I - The father's promise to his daughter

Opening: "I cried for a while and then I got mad..."

At first, the father cried and felt upset because being a father had not turned out as he had expected. However, he then decided to support his daughter, who could not see. From that day onwards, he committed himself to guiding her through life and helping her understand and experience the world with love.

OR - Option II: Try, Try Again

Opening: "Once or twice though you should fail..."

Even if you fail once or twice, you should continue trying. If you want to succeed eventually, you must keep making an effort. There is no shame in failing when you have tried your best. Whenever you do not succeed, you should remain determined and try again.

Writing tip: A paraphrase expresses the meaning of the whole stanza in clear prose. Do not write only its central idea.

Q.3(B) - Poetic Extracts [6 marks]

Option I - "Nature, the gentlest mother"

(i) Which image does the poet use to describe Nature? [2 marks]

The poet describes Nature as a gentle and caring mother. Like a loving mother, Nature patiently cares for all her children, including the weakest and most disobedient.

(ii) Give an example of personification. [2 marks]

"Nature, the gentlest mother" is an example of personification. Nature is given human qualities by being described as a mother who shows patience and gently corrects her children.

(iii) Identify the rhyme scheme. [2 marks]

The rhyme scheme is ABCB. "Child" and "mild" rhyme.

Line-ending word	Rhyme label
Mother	A
Child	B
Waywardest	C
Mild	B

OR - Option II: "In spite of war, in spite of hate"

(i) What visual images does the poet use? [2 marks]

The poet presents images of lilacs blooming at the gate and tulips growing along the path. These colourful flowers show that nature remains beautiful despite war, hatred, and anger.

(ii) Give an example of figurative language. [2 marks]

"Tulips are tripping down the path" is an example of personification. The tulips are described as if they were people moving lightly along the path.

(iii) Identify the rhyme scheme. [2 marks]

The rhyme scheme is AABB. "Hate" rhymes with "gate," while "path" and "wrath" form the intended second rhyming pair.

Line-ending word	Rhyme label
Hate	A
Gate	A
Path	B
Wrath	B

Q.4 - Grammar [12 marks]

(A) Modal auxiliary verbs [Any four: 4 marks]

Part	Completed sentence	Function
(i)	He can lift this heavy box without any help.	Ability
(ii)	May I use your phone for a minute?	Permission
(iii)	Could you help me with my assignment?	Polite request
(iv)	You must wear a seatbelt while driving.	Necessity / obligation
(v)	You should see a doctor if you are feeling sick.	Advice / suggestion
(vi)	The weather will be sunny tomorrow.	Future prediction

Acceptable alternative for (iii): "Would you help me with my assignment?"

(B) Rewrite using adverb forms [Any four: 4 marks]

Part	Original expression	Rewritten sentence
(i)	In a very gentle tone	He spoke very gently.
(ii)	In a loud voice	The baby cried loudly.
(iii)	With wisdom	She handled the crisis wisely.
(iv)	It is sure that	He will surely help me in need.
(v)	With scorn	He treated me scornfully.
(vi)	His behavior was so polite.	He behaved so politely.

Part (vi): The sentence is restructured because the adverb "politely" describes the action "behaved."

(C) Direct to indirect speech [4 marks]

Mother told Sam to wake up early the following day. Sam asked his mother why he had to wake up early. She explained that they had to attend his cousin's wedding and told him to get ready on time.

Direct speech	Indirect speech
"Wake up early"	Told Sam to wake up early
Tomorrow	The following day
"Why, Mom?"	Asked his mother why he had to wake up early
We have to attend	They had to attend
Your cousin's wedding	His cousin's wedding
"Get ready"	Told him to get ready

Grammar tip: Indirect questions use statement order: "why he had to...", not "why did he have to..."

SECTION C | Q.5 - Narrative Writing [6 marks]

Required length: 100-125 words. All three choices are provided; attempt only one in the examination.

(i) A Lesson Learned from a Mistake

Last month, our teacher gave us a science project. I thought it was easy and spent several evenings playing games instead of working. On the final night, I hurried to finish it. I copied some information without understanding it and forgot to label my diagram.

The next morning, I could not explain my project to the class. My teacher looked disappointed but gave me another chance. I admitted my mistake and asked for guidance.

This time, I made a plan and worked carefully every day. My improved project received good marks. I learned that delaying work creates problems, while planning, honesty, and steady effort lead to success.

Word count: 107 words, excluding the title.

(ii) Kindness Makes the World Better

One cold morning, I saw an elderly man standing outside a pharmacy. He was checking his pockets and looked worried. I asked if he needed help. He explained that he had lost some money and could not buy his medicine.

I had saved money to buy a new cricket ball. After a moment, I offered it to him. He thanked me warmly and bought the medicine.

When I told my friends what had happened, they decided to collect money for people in need. Our teacher also supported the idea.

I did not get my cricket ball that day, but I felt happy. A small act of kindness had encouraged others to help.

Word count: 112 words, excluding the title.

(iii) Complete the Given Narrative

Ali was walking home when he saw a small child crying near the park. He stopped and asked what happened. The child said that he had lost his mother in the crowd.

Ali spoke kindly and helped him calm down. He took the child to the security guard at the park entrance. Together, they asked the child his name and made an announcement.

A few minutes later, a worried woman hurried towards them. The child immediately ran into her arms. She thanked Ali and the guard for keeping her son safe.

Ali smiled and continued his journey home. He felt pleased that he had stopped to help instead of walking away.

Word count: 111 words, including the given opening.

Q.6 - Conjunctions [Any five: 5 marks]

Blank	Answer	Function
1	And	Adds moral support to money
2	Because	Gives the reason for needing help
3	Therefore	Shows the result of being in trouble
4	Or	Presents another way to help
5	However	Introduces an unexpected contrast
6	Nor	Completes the pair "neither...nor"

Completed paragraph

My father was in need of money and moral support because he had suffered losses in business. He was in trouble; therefore, he requested his friend to lend him some money or assist him in any other way. However, he was shocked that his friend supported him neither financially nor morally. No doubt, we should hope for the best but stay prepared for the worst.

Q.7 - Essay Writing [10 marks]

Required length: 200-250 words. All three topics are provided; attempt only one in the examination.

(i) How to Build a Happy Family?

A happy family gives its members love, safety, and support. It does not depend only on money or a large house. It grows through respect, understanding, and the daily efforts of everyone at home.

Good communication is the first step towards family happiness. Family members should listen carefully and speak politely. Children should be able to share their worries without fear. Parents should guide them with patience rather than anger.

Spending time together also strengthens family relationships. Eating meals together, going for walks, and discussing the day help people feel connected. During these moments, mobile phones should be put aside so that everyone receives attention.

Responsibilities should be shared fairly. Children can keep their rooms clean and help with simple household tasks. Adults should support one another in managing work, expenses, and family needs. Appreciating these efforts makes each person feel valued.

Disagreements are natural, but they should be settled calmly. Family members should avoid insults, admit their mistakes, and forgive one another. Respecting personal space is also important.

Finally, a happy family supports its members during illness, failure, and other difficulties. It celebrates small achievements and encourages everyone to improve. When people practise kindness, trust, and cooperation every day, their home becomes a peaceful place where everyone feels loved.

Word count: 210 words, excluding the title.

Q.7 - Essay Writing: Other Options

(ii) Pollution and Its Consequences

Pollution is the contamination of our surroundings by harmful substances. It affects the air, water, and land. It is a serious problem because human health and the survival of other living things depend on a clean environment.

Air pollution comes from vehicle exhaust, factory smoke, and burning waste. It can cause breathing difficulties and make life uncomfortable. Dirty air also harms plants and reduces the quality of life in crowded cities.

Water pollution occurs when sewage, chemicals, and rubbish enter rivers, lakes, and other water sources. Polluted water can spread diseases and kill fish. It also reduces the supply of safe water for drinking and farming.

Land pollution is caused by careless waste disposal, plastic litter, and harmful chemicals. It damages soil and threatens animals that swallow waste. Noise pollution from traffic, construction, and loudspeakers can disturb sleep and concentration.

We can reduce pollution through responsible action. Governments should enforce environmental rules and improve waste collection. Factories should treat waste before releasing it. People should use public transport, avoid burning rubbish, and reduce unnecessary plastic use.

Schools and communities should organize awareness campaigns and cleaning activities. Planting and protecting trees can also improve our surroundings. A cleaner environment requires cooperation from everyone. By changing our habits today, we can protect our health and leave a safer world for future generations.

Word count: 220 words, excluding the title.

(iii) Cybersecurity: How to Stay Safe Online?

The internet helps us learn, communicate, and complete many everyday tasks. However, careless use can expose us to scams, stolen information, and harmful software. Cybersecurity means protecting our devices, accounts, and personal information from online threats.

The first step is to use strong, unique passwords. A password should be difficult to guess and should not contain an obvious name or birthday. We should also enable two-step verification whenever it is available.

Personal information must be shared carefully. Our address, phone number, passwords, and banking details should remain private. Privacy settings can help us control who sees our posts and photographs.

We should be cautious about messages that create fear or promise unexpected prizes. Unknown links and attachments may be dangerous. Before entering information on a website, we should check its address and confirm that it is genuine.

Keeping software updated is another important habit. Updates often fix security weaknesses. We should download applications from trusted sources, lock our devices, and keep backups of important files.

Respectful behaviour also matters online. We should avoid sharing harmful content and report bullying or suspicious accounts. If something makes a student uncomfortable, a trusted adult should be informed.

Online safety requires attention and responsible choices. By following these simple habits, we can enjoy the benefits of the internet while reducing risks.
